Michael "Mikee Whiteshoes" Francis Williamson

Michael "Mikee Whiteshoes" Francis Williamson, 66, of Wildwood, NJ, was welcomed into Heaven on Saturday, September 4, 2021. Born on February 25, 1955 in Philadelphia, PA, he was the son of the late John Elijah and Elaine Mae (Ward) Williamson. Michael attended St. Gabriel's High School in Philadelphia and enlisted in the US Navy.

Evangelist, Street Preacher, Lover of Jesus, "Mikee Whiteshoes" was a fighter. As hard as he fought against men at the beginning of his life, as a boxer, he fought for the souls of men at the end of his life, as a minister of the Gospel - especially to the forgotten men and women in the nursing homes and shelters of Philadelphia and South Jersey. Mikee was a student and devoted teacher of the Bible who not only hid scripture in his heart, but proclaimed it and put it into action. Mikee was a powerful voice for the Kingdom of God, ministering salvation through Christ Jesus. His own life was a witness to the saving grace of God and he urged others to receive Jesus and allow Him to change their lives from the inside out. He was a founder of Lost Sheep fellowship, forerunner of The Jesus House ministry, which first began meeting at Clary's Restaurant of Cape May Court House.

Mikee was a Christian leader who attracted and motivated teams of Believers to participate in ministry to others, leading by example. He was a powerful engine for the Gospel, organizing coat drives and Christian outreaches to recovering addicts through The Jesus House ministry at The Last Stop in the Kensington section of Philadelphia and at The Carpenter's Shop of Wildwood, the Revolve Church of North Cape May and the Atlantic City Salvation Army, in conjunction with If Not For Grace Ministries. Mikee frequently preached at Teen Challenge and the Atlantic City Rescue Mission. Some of his messages are posted on YouTube and Vimeo.com. Though Mikee had friends and ministry supporters among many South Jersey Churches, his final affiliation was with the Revolve Church of North Cape May and Iglesia Cristiana Oasis de Bendicion of Rio Grande.

Michael is survived by his loving wife, Justine Namuyanja Williamson; his children and their spouses: son Michael Williamson and children, Michael, Selena and E.J.; son Tommy Williamson and his son, Tommy; daughter Lisa (Anthony "Peanut") Hickman and their children, Kristopher, Eric and Rylee; son Joey (Kim)Williamson and their daughter, Karlee. Michael is also survived by his siblings and their spouses: Alice (David) Guld, John "Buddy" (Judy)Williamson, Andrew (Donna) Williamson, Kathleen (McAvoy) Callaghan, Francis (Dawn) McAvoy and Elaine "Lainey" McAvoy.

He was preceded in death by first wife, Susan (DiMedio)Williamson.

“ My husband, Bruce Tempest, came to receive Jesus as his Lord and savior because Mikee was yelling at some guy on the bus who had taken the Lord's name in vain. Mikee fought for what he believed in and he believed in Jesus. And we were blessed.

Once upon a time in the early 1980's, Michael and I rented the Blues Brothers movie on VHS cassette and got some beer and went back to his place to watch the movie. For some strange and unforeseen reason this started a snowball effect in which we would watch this movie together countless times. And by countless, I mean, that by 1995 when I headed out west we had a Blues Brothers party at least 50 times or so.

Now Mike (who didn't mind exaggerating when telling his side of a story) would say that we watched it hundreds of times.

He would announce the event as the second showing of the Blues Brothers, then the third, then fourth...etc. But after loosing count over the years the number started climbing higher and we both started claiming ridiculously high numbers of Blues Brothers showings.

"Tonight only, the 156th showing of the Blues Brothers", he would say in his best Dan Aykroyd impression. I got sick of the movie but never the company.

From the first Blues Brothers showing, the car I owned was nick named The Blues Mobile. And to this day, every car I ever owned was called the Blues Mobile. AND in every car I ever owned the cigarette lighter was ceremoniously chucked out of the window while driving. The Williamson / McAvoy clan has been and will always be my extended family. May YHVH bless.

I miss my brothers Bud, Mike, Andy and Fran. And also Kathy and Lainey of course. I'm gonna watch the Blues Brothers one last time. Without my wing man.....Later Mike.....
